Love Lights the World

Full of fear and question, your eyes ask me why
I turn away so you won't see me cry
Sleepy days of summer seem so long gone by,
Gone with hatred etched into the sky
I can't give back your innocence or tell you it's not true.
I'm searching for the wisdom and the words to help you through.

I will speak of family, I will speak of friends,
Of loyalty and love that never ends:
A love that like a candle's light cannot be dimmed by dark,
A love that in the darkest night is hit in every heart.

Refrain:

As one to one and heart to heart,
Each candle's light lights up the dark.

Evil can't be answered with a where or what or why.
Love's the only answer to your cry.
I want to give you innocence and tell you it's not true
But telling you I love you is the best that I can do.

Refrain:

As one to one and heart to heart,
Each candle's light lights up the dark.
As one to one and heart to heart,
Love lights the world. There's no more dark.
